

Design Explanation:

My design for the shopping cart is relatively simple. First of all, the most prominent word will be the label of the shopping cart because I want to display the hierarchy. Then I added a progress bar below because, for a process funnel, the user might lose track of the steps if there is no indication of what process they are at. Then, I designed the form like product detail lists, Because it is structured, the user will be easily read through each of them and compare according to each category. (I also included a small X removal button, so user could modify the # inside the cart and does not need to go back)

Shopping Cart Page Low-fidelity Prototype

